

VP-45 Bulletins

6 INS 10 TINS 40 LB. LBS. 207
PEACHES, CANNED
CONTRACT W/1937-1948
BREW CANNING COMPANY
PICKED ATAHUAH 1942

NAVY

SEA ARCHIVE
NUMBERED 1001

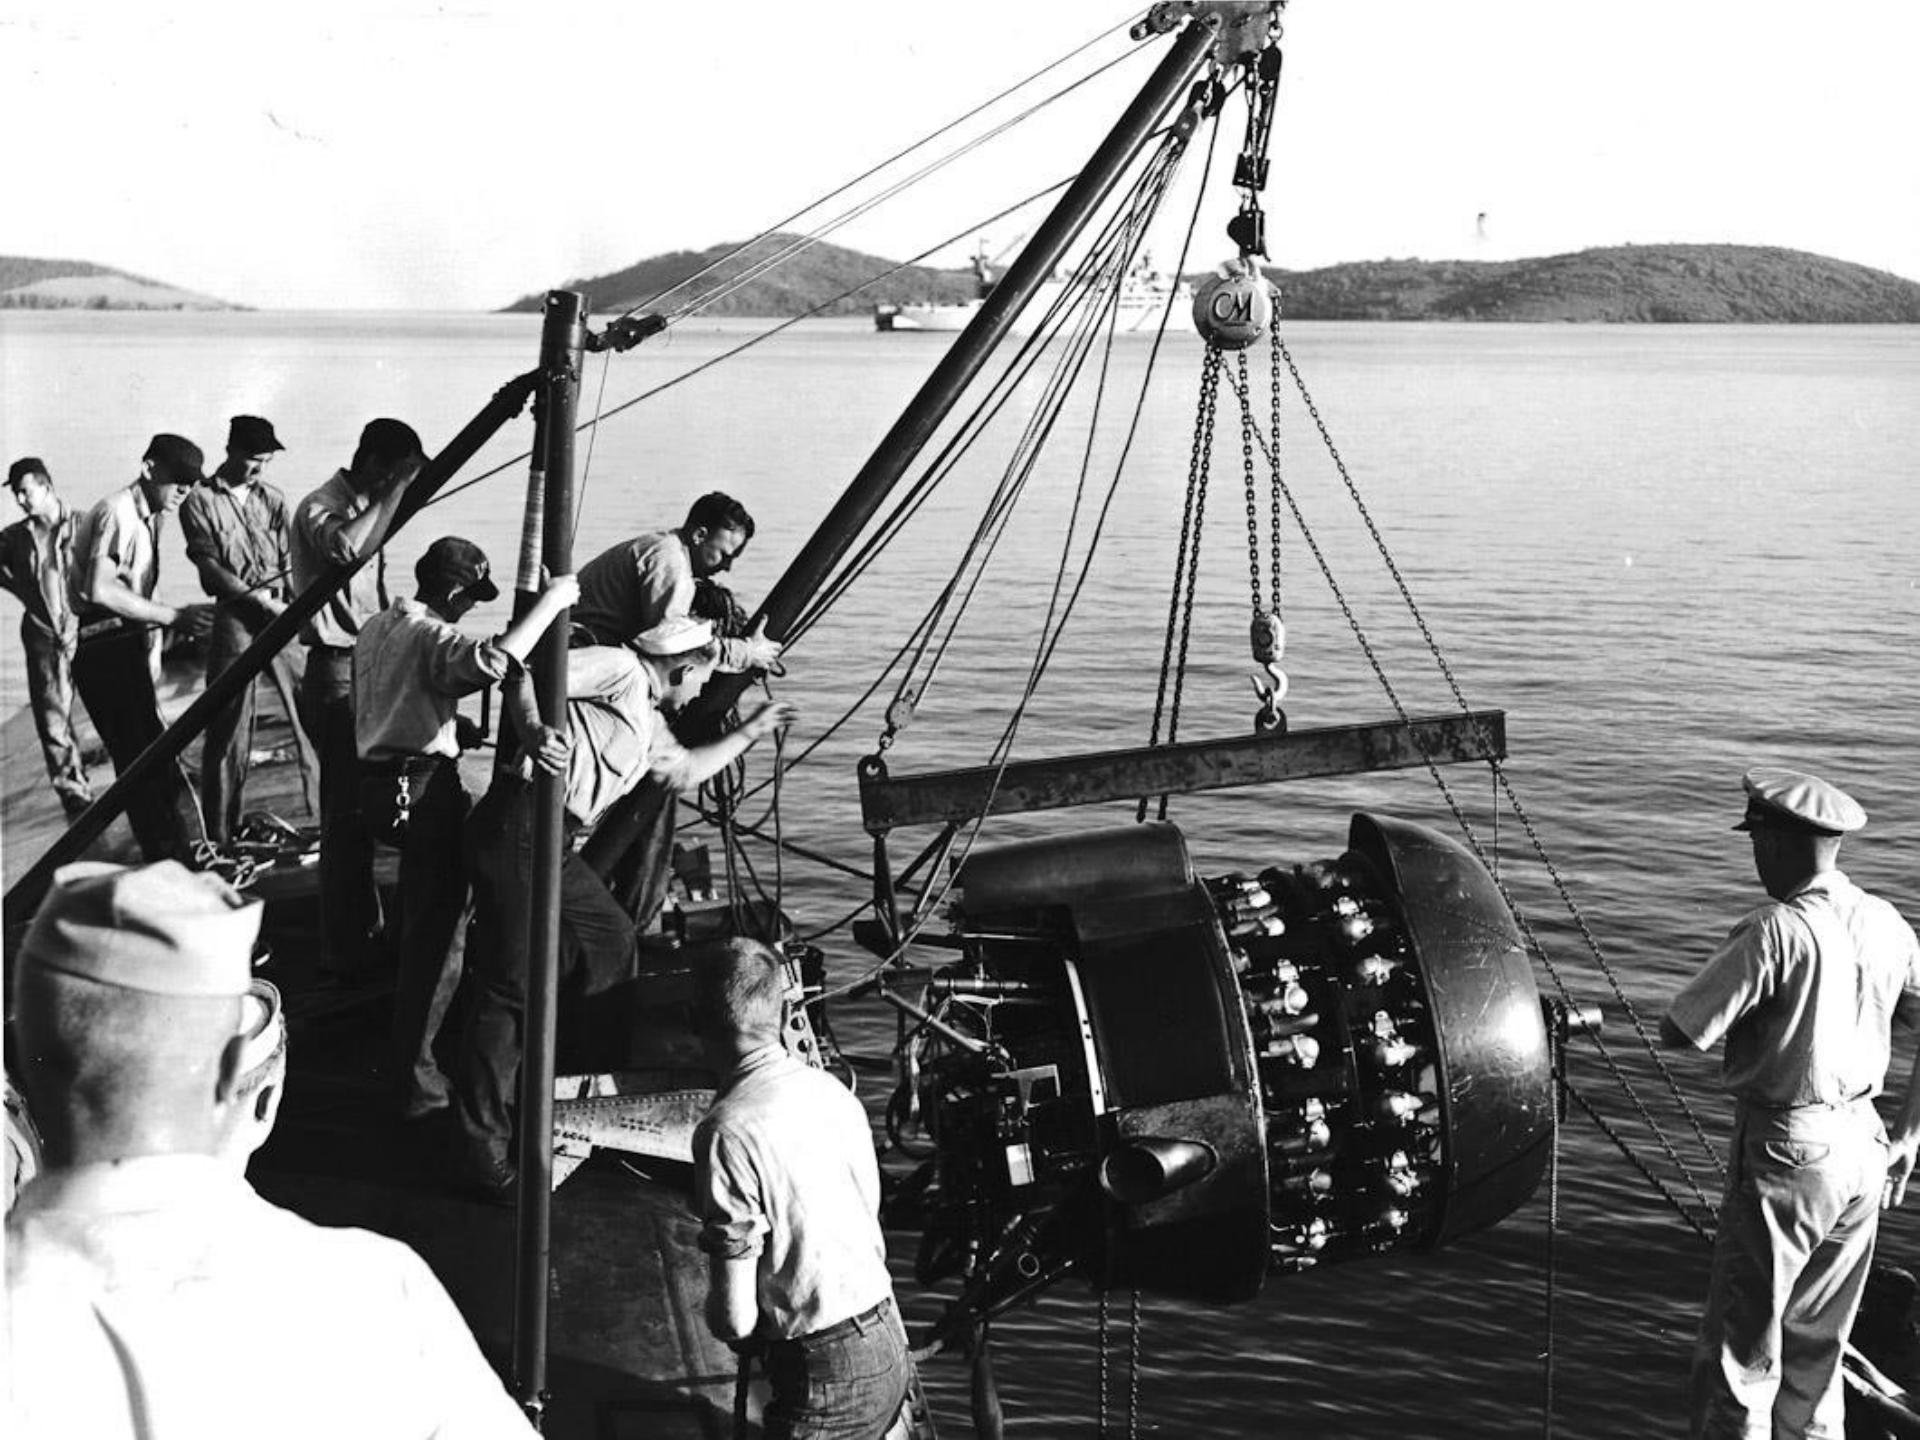

USS Currituck AV-7

Stuck in the ice overnight. Only time bay at Norfolk ever froze.

NAVSTA Bermuda. Navy built the peninsula

Dan Faas ARM 3/c

The only P5M in existence. Located at NAS Pensacola museum.

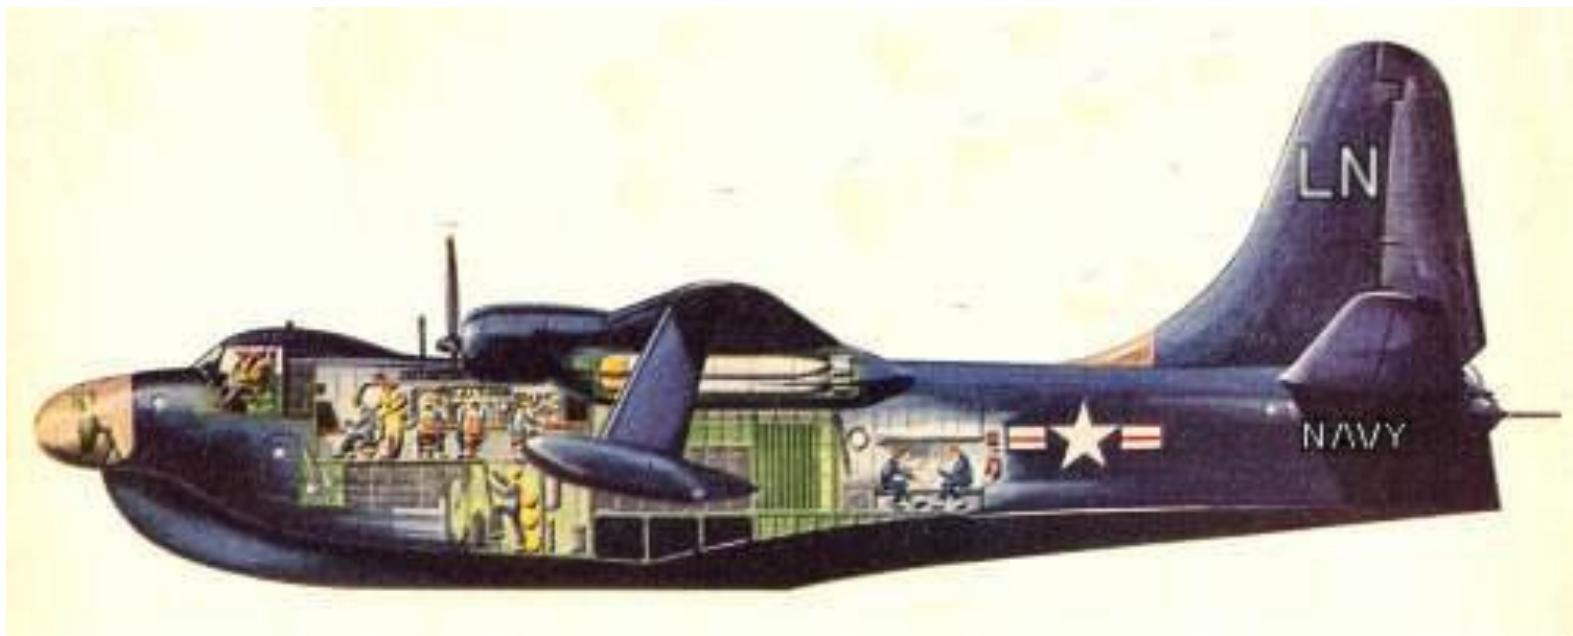

Lost engine en route to BDA. Taxied back to JAX (200 miles+)

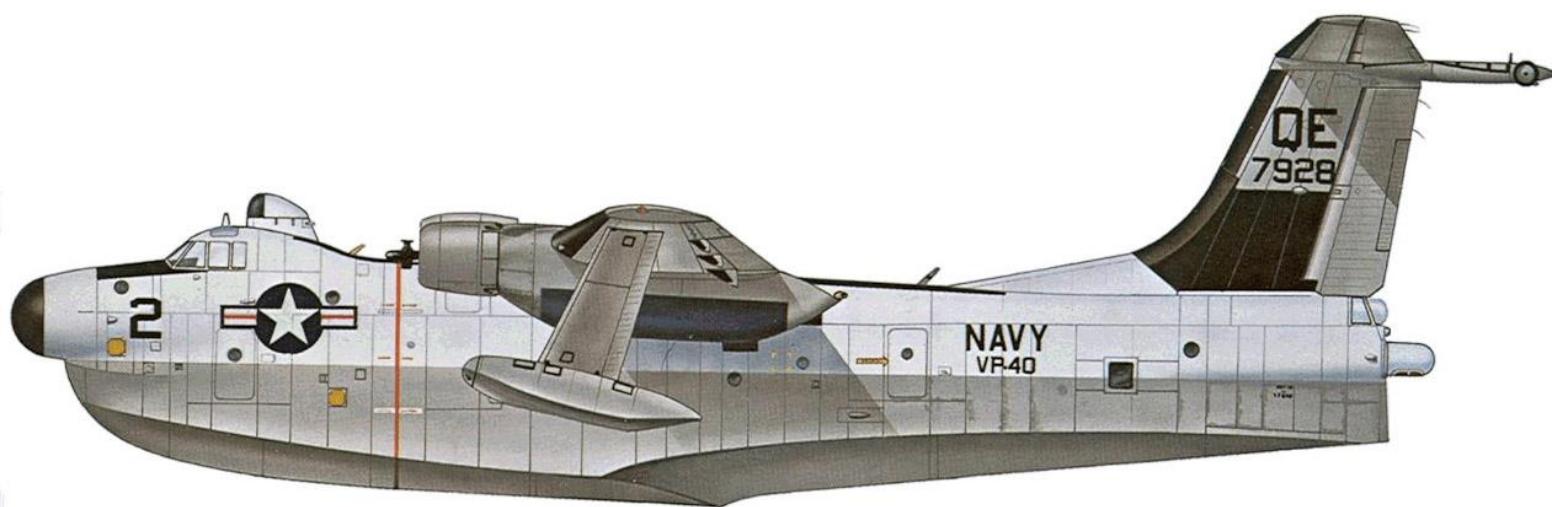

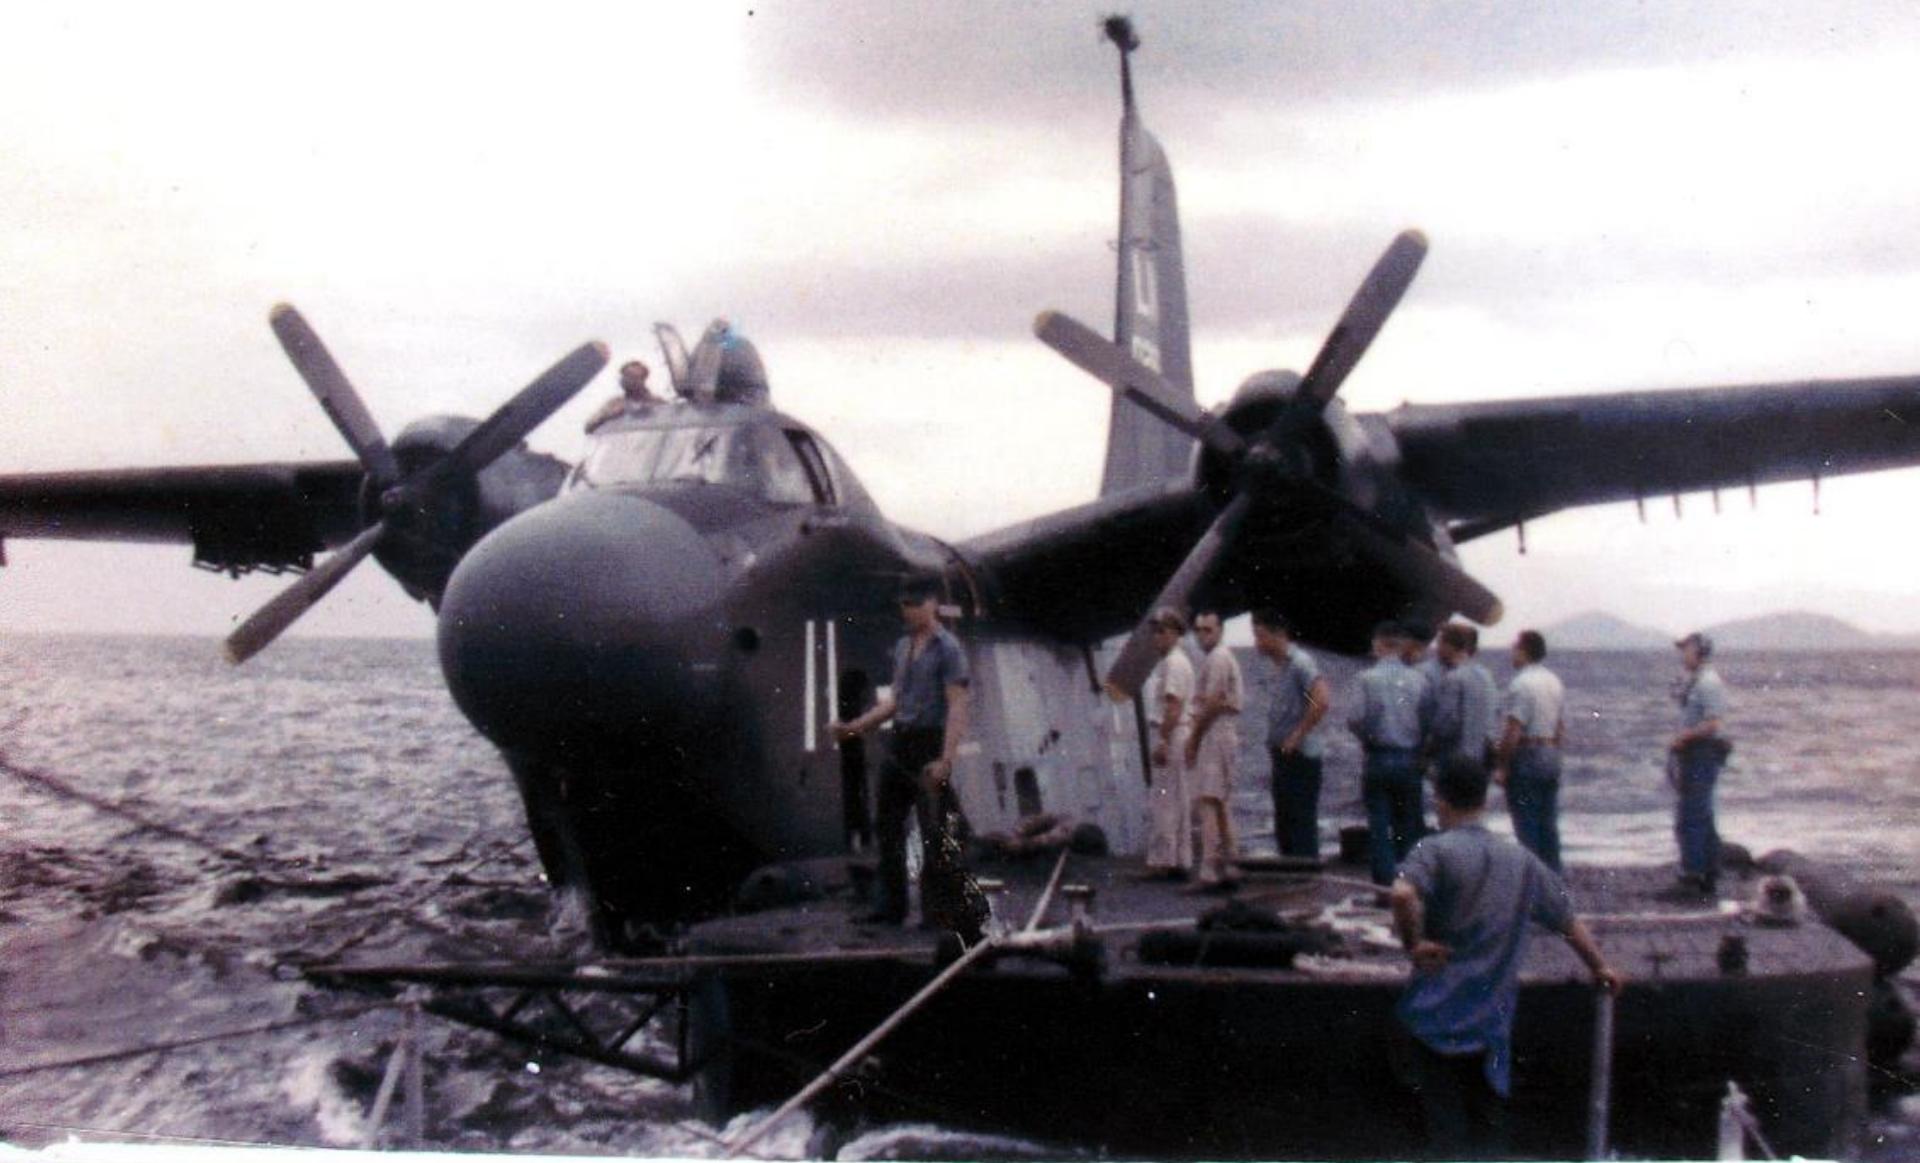

FLEET AIR DETACHMENT COCO SOLO

PATROL SQUADRON 34 HANGAR 1147

PATROL SQUADRON 45 HANGAR 1138

FLEET AIR SERVICE SQUADRON 105 HANGAR 1138

Looking back in time . . .

A P5M from VP-45 launches from the NAS Jacksonville pier in 1954.

File photo

Panama Canal Locks

P-5M LN-7 Tying down at GITMO

Surfaced Soviet sub. Cuban Missile Crisis

1953)</h3>

<video width="400px"

height="200px"

controls="controls">

<source src="../_videos/PBM_years.mp4"

type="video/mp4" />

</video>

<h3 align="left">The P5M Era (1954-

1962)</h3>

<video width="400px"

height="200px"

controls="controls">

<source src="../_videos/P5M_years.mp4"

type="video/mp4" />

</video>

<h3 align="left">The P-3A Era (1963-

1977)</h3>

<video width="400px"

A photograph of a white seaplane flying low over a dark blue ocean. The plane's reflection is visible on the water below. The sky is clear and blue.

Farewell
Seaplanes!!!!